M: Attention, students! I'm your vice-principal. I'm sure you all remember our school cafeteria rules. But these days a lot of students have been ignoring them. Some students run quickly into the cafeteria to make it to the front of the line first. Others even cut in line. Still others just leave their plates on the table after eating their meal. This kind of behavior is not nice and may get you in trouble. I ask you all to follow the rules. Thank you.

W: I know, but the notice board is already full.

6. 다음을 듣고, 여자가 하는 말의 주제로 가장 적절한 것을 고르시오.

W: Nowadays, many students use earphones when listening to music. I want to suggest three things for using them safely. You have to use them with proper volume. Your ears can be damaged if a high volume sound goes directly into them. Also, do not wear earphones while walking on a busy street because that could increase the chance of a possible accident. Finally, keep your earphones clean. Dirty ones can cause an infection or skin trouble inside your ears. Once you follow these suggestions, you can enjoy your music safely.

M: Can you say where exactly?

W: It was about twenty minutes back on the trail to the top.

16. African unicorn에 관한 다음 내용을 듣고, 일치하지 않는 것을 고르시오.

W: Have you heard of an African unicorn? It's also called "okapi." It is native to the Congo in Central Africa. Its face resembles that of a giraffe. But the African unicorn has stripes on its legs, which make it look like a zebra. African unicorns are not sociable and prefer to live alone in large areas. [21~22] 다음을 듣고, 물음에 답하십시오.

M: There are many advantages of working together. I experienced them while working on a play. First, we could write a wonderful script because every member gave their own ideas to create a whole story. Second, we felt less of a burden because we divided the work into smaller parts such as music, lights, and make-up. Finally, we learned acting skills from each other while preparing for a local play contest. As a result of constant practice with my group members, we won first prize in the contest and got a chance to participate in the National Theater Contest this coming May. We achieved all of this because we worked together.
