It was my first day of school at St. Roma High School. The uniforms were a lot fancier than in middle school. ㉠As a St. Roma student, I had to wear a green sweater with the school label on the shoulder, khaki skirt or Khaki pants, a white blouse, and a green St. Roma tie. ㉡"There's my St. Roma student," said Mom. "You're ready for your first day?" she asked. "Yes!" I told her. ㉢When we got into the car and headed to school, my mind started to imagine how my first day of school would turn out. ㉣Maybe I'll have new friends. Maybe I'll be the best in the class. ㉤It's going to be rough until I get used to my school life. I could not wait to start my first day at a new school.

Simply providing students with complex texts is not enough for learning to happen. Assigning students to independently read, think about, and then write about a complex text is not enough, either. (A) [Qualify / Quality] questions are one way that teachers can check students' understanding of the text. Questions can also promote students' search for evidence and their need to return to the text to deepen their understanding. Teachers take an active role in developing and deepening students' comprehension by asking questions that cause them to read the text again, resulting in (B)[multiple / multiply] readings of the same text. In other words, these text-based questions provide students with a purpose for rereading, which is (C)[critical / critic] for understanding complex texts.

Clothing doesn't have to be expensive to provide comfort during exercise. Select clothing appropriate for the temperature and environmental conditions in which you will be doing exercise. Clothing that is appropriate for exercise and the season can improve your exercise experience. In contrast, it is best to face cold environments with layers so you can adjust your body temperature to avoid sweating and remain comfortable.

Technology has doubtful advantages. We must balance too much information versus using only the right information and keeping the decision-making process simple. The Internet has made so much free information available on any issue that we think we have to consider all of it in order to make a decision. So we keep searching for answers on the Internet. This makes us information blinded, like deer in headlights, when trying to make personal, business, or other decisions. To be successful in anything today, we have to keep in mind that in the land of the blind, a one-eyed person can accomplish the seemingly impossible. The one-eyed person understands the power of keeping any analysis simple and will be the decision maker when he uses his one eye of intuition.

All mammals need to leave their parents and set up on their own at some point. (A)_____ human adults generally provide a comfortable existence—enough food arrives on the table, money is given at regular intervals, the bills get paid and the electricity for the TV doesn't usually run out. If teenagers didn't build up a fairly major disrespect for and conflict with their parents or carers, they'd never want to leave. (B)_____, falling out of love with the adults who look after you is probably a necessary part of growing up. Later, when you live independently, away from them, you can start to love them again because you won't need to be fighting to get away from them. And you can come back sometimes for a home-cooked meal.

How does a leader make people feel important? First, by listening to them. Let them know you respect their thinking, and let them voice their opinions. As an added bonus, you might learn something! A friend of mine once told me about the CEO of a large company who told one of his managers, "There's nothing you could possibly tell me that I haven't already thought about before. Don't ever tell me what you think unless I ask you. Is that understood?" Imagine (A)_____ that manager must have felt. If must have discouraged him and negatively affected his performance. On the other hand, when you make a person feel a great sense of importance, he or she will feel on top of the world—and the level of energy will increase rapidly.

Most of us are suspicious of rapid cognition. ㉠We believe that the quality of the decision is directly related to the time and effort that went into making it. That's what we tell our children: "Haste makes waste." "Look before you leap," "Stop and think." "Don't judge a book by its cover." ㉢We believe that we are always better off gathering as much information as possible and spending as much time as possible and spending as much time as possible in careful consideration. ㉣But there are moments, particularly in time-driven, critical situations, when haste does not make waste, when our snap judgments and first impressions can offer better means of making sense of the world. ㉤Survivors have somehow learned this lesson and have developed and sharpened their skill of rapid cognition. ㉥These days, some survivors are fortunate enough to receive special permission allowing to move into their community.
