M: Hello, Ms. Brown. I brought the company logo samples you asked for.

W: Hello, Mr. Smith. I've been looking forward to seeing them.

M: Here're the samples. Let me know which one you like the most.

W: I like the logos with the luggage better than the globe. As you know, luggage reminds us of traveling. It symbolizes our company's identity.

M: Okay. Which image do you like on the luggage, a train or an airplane?

W: Since we specialize in tour packages abroad, the airplane would be a better choice.

M: I see. Would you like the one with your company name, 'VIVA TOUR' on the top or at the bottom?

W: I'll choose the one at the bottom. Thank you for all your hard work.

2.

W: Hey, Min. What are those?

M: These are the indoor plants I received as a present. But I'm worried I might kill them.

W: Don't worry. It's not that difficult to raise indoor plants. Do you know how often you need to water them?

M: Yes, I do. It depends, but once a week should be enough. Is there anything else I need to do?

W: Um... Make sure they aren't in strong sunlight.

M: Really? I thought strong sunlight is good for plants.

W: Not all the time. It can sometimes dry them out.

M: Wow, you're an expert!

W: Oh, one more thing. You need to air the room on a regular basis. Then, you'll see how well they can grow at home.

M: Thanks to you, I'll be able to take good care of them.

3.

M: Honey, the electronics store nearby is having a huge sale from Wednesday to Sunday.

W: That's good news! We need to buy a new microwave oven. The one we have now doesn't work well.

M: Right. Let's go buy one on Wednesday.

W: I think it'll be too crowded on the first day of the sale. Why don't we go there either on Thursday or Friday?

M: Friday's no good. Don't you remember I'll start my business trip on Friday?

W: Oh, yeah. It's a week-long trip. Then, I guess we should go on Thursday.

M: Exactly. Let's go get a new microwave oven that day.

W: Okay.

4.

W: Jake, what time is the Eddie Cohen Concert on Friday? I can drive you there.

M: Oh, thanks a lot, but I can't go.

W: What? Why not? I thought you've been looking forward to the concert! Were all the tickets sold out?

M: No, I bought the tickets, but I have to refund them.

W: Why?

M: I have an important job interview on Friday. I really want this job.

W: Too bad you can't make it to the concert. Anyway, how are you preparing for your interview?

M: I'm getting some help from my study group members. I'll see them this afternoon.

W: Okay. Good luck!

5.

[Cellphone rings.]

M: Hi, Honey! Anything wrong?

W: Hi. Is this a good time to talk?

M: Sure. What is it?

W: You know our daughter has a doctor's appointment today, right?

M: Yeah, last night you said you were going to take her to the hospital after leaving work early.

W: I'm sorry, but I can't. Could you please take her to the hospital?

M: Sure, I can. But why?

W: Something urgent came up at the last minute. I'm the one who's in charge of the matter. So, I need to deal with it.

M: Okay. Don't worry.

6.

M: Amy, did you finish the essay homework for Mr. Brown's class?

W: No, I didn't. I'm still looking for an appropriate essay topic. How about you?

M: I finished it last week.

W: Really? How did you come up with the ideas so easily?

M: Well, I got some ideas from the books that I read. Reading books helps me generate ideas because it broadens my background knowledge.

W: What do you mean?

M: By reading books, we can experience things indirectly and get lots of new information. So, we can come up with many ideas when writing.

W: Oh, that's why you're such a good writer!

7.

[Telephone rings.]

W: Anna's Restaurant, how can I help you?

M: Hello. I'd like to make a delivery order to 37 Kingston Street.

W: 37 Kingston Street. Okay. What would you like?

M: I'll just have the seafood spaghetti.

W: Okay. That'll be 18 dollars plus three dollars for delivery.

M: Oh, I didn't know you charged extra for delivery.

W: Yes, there's a delivery charge for all orders less than 20 dollars.

M: Well, in that case, I'll add a green salad.

W: Great! That'll be 23 dollars in total. 18 dollars for the seafood spaghetti and five dollars for the green salad. How would you like to pay?

M: By credit card.

8.

M: Good afternoon. What can I do for you?

W: Hello, I'd like to take a holiday trip for myself to Jeju Island.

M: Certainly. When and how long would you like to go?

W: About a week from August 7th.

M: I see. Are you interested in a tour package?

W: A package would be fine. What do you suggest?

M: Since you're traveling alone, I recommend the 'All that Jeju' package. This is our company's bestseller. You won't regret it.

W: Really? Could you please give me some details?

M: Sure. It includes many items, such as round-trip plane tickets, a hotel room with breakfast, and a rental car. Here, let me give you a brochure.

W: Thank you.

9.

M: Hi, Mom. I'm home.

W: Hi, Anthony. How was your math test?

M: You know what? I got a perfect score for the first time in my life.

W: Wonderful! You did a good job. I'm glad that all your studying paid off.

M: Yeah, me, too. By the way, I'm so hungry. Is there anything to eat?

W: Actually, I'm making pizza, your favorite food.

M: Yay! When can we eat? I'm starving!

W: In ten minutes. In the meantime, can you throw out the garbage?

M: Sure. I'll do it now.

10.

W: Dad, I need a pair of wireless earphones. My current ones aren't good for jogging. And they're too old.

M: Actually, I was thinking of getting you a new pair.

W: Really? Wonderful! Thank you.

M: I found some good ones on the Internet for you. Let's choose one together. First of all, what about the playing time?

W: The longer, the better. At least 10 hours would be good.

M: Right. How about a noise canceling function? I heard it helps protect our hearing.

W: I agree. I think I can listen at a lower volume by using it.

M: Then, we have two options left. How about this model?

W: It's too expensive. I think spending more than 100 dollars is too much for wireless earphones.

M: You're right. Let's order the other one.

11.

M: Hello, everyone. I'm Matt from the student council. We're going to hold an event called The Second Life to Everything from June 8th to June 9th.

It'll take place from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. in the school playground. The main purpose of this event is to protect our environment by encouraging students to reuse second-hand goods. You can buy and sell second-hand goods at a reasonable price at this event. If you want to participate in this event as a seller, you have to submit an application form to the student council office by June 2nd. I hope many of you will enjoy the event.

Thank you for your attention.

12.

W: Hello, students. This is Christine Benson, your art teacher. I'd like to introduce next week's event to you. We're going to make eco-friendly soap next Thursday, May 13th. It'll be held in the gym at 5 p.m. We're going to use recycled ingredients, such as used coffee grounds and cooking oil. All the materials will be provided, so you don't need to bring anything. After making your soap, you can take it home. If you want to participate in this event, please write your name on the board in front of the art room by this Friday. I hope you will all participate.

13.

M: Honey, I ate too much. I'm really full.

W: So am I. I shouldn't have eaten that last piece of cake.

M: But the cake you made was so good. We both couldn't help eating it all up.

W: Do you want me to help you with the dishes?

M: No, I just finished.

W: Okay. How about taking a walk for a little bit?

M: Well, I'd rather just rest by watching some TV.

W: Come on. Just for 30 minutes. Let's go out.

M: Fine. We can get some fresh air in the park, I guess.

W: Great! I'll go get my coat now. I'll get yours, too.

M: Thanks.

14.

W: Hello, listeners. Welcome to Coffee Break with Samantha. This is your host, Samantha Jennings. How many times do you say 'thank you' during the day? 'Thank you' is a magic phrase. When you express your gratefulness to others, you can make them smile, as well as yourself.

Once you start saying 'thank you,' you'll find more opportunities to say it.

That's how magic works in our daily lives. Why don't you start using this magic phrase to the people around you?

15.

W: Number One

M: Excuse me. Could you pull up your chair a little bit?

W: Oh, I'm sorry. I didn't see you there.

W: Number Two

M: Sorry, ma'am. You cannot park here.

W: Really? Where can I park then?

W: Number Three

M: Hello. I booked a room for two nights.

W: Let me check your reservation. Your name, please?

W: Number Four

M: Look! There's a bench next to the hotdog stand.

W: Why don't we take a seat and rest?

W: Number Five

M: Could you take my picture with this camera?

W: Of course. Stand in front of that tree.

16.

[Cellphone rings.]

W: Hi, Dad.

M: Hey, Cathy. Your basketball practice finishes at 6 o'clock, right?

W: Yes. Why do you ask?

M: I can pick you up today.

W: Really? Didn't you say that you were going to meet someone for dinner?

M: It's been canceled. So, I can be there by 6.

W: Well, my teammates and I are going to watch a movie at the Lakeside Mall after practice.

M: I see. If you need a ride home, I can pick you up after the movie ends.

W: Thanks. That'll be great! The movie will end around 8:30.

M: Alright. I'll be there by then.

17.

[Telephone rings.]

M: Hello?

W: Hello, Mr. Park. I'm Yuna in your online English class. I'm having trouble uploading my assignment.

M: What kind of trouble are you having?

W: The website keeps showing an error message every time I try to upload a file.

M: Oh, I see. Maybe it's too big then. What's the size of your file?

W: It's about 100 megabytes.

M: I think that's the reason. The maximum size for uploading files on our online classroom is 50 megabytes.

W: Then, how can I submit my assignment?

M: You can send me your file by email instead.

18.

[Doorbell rings.]

M: Hello. I'm your new upstairs neighbor in 203.

W: Nice to meet you. What can I do for you?

M: I just wanted to let you know that my apartment is going to be remodeled starting from next week. So, it might be a bit noisy.

W: I see. How long will it take?

M: If everything goes as planned, it should only take two weeks.

W: Okay. What time will the remodeling take place?

M: It'll take place between 10 in the morning and 2 in the afternoon on weekdays only.

W: Oh, good! I'm out to work during those hours. Why don't you post a notice on the elevator to let everyone else know?

M: I already did. I just wanted to tell you in person.

W: Thanks for letting me know in advance.

19.

M: Sally, are you done with everything in the kitchen?

W: Yes, Manager Collins. It's been a long day.

M: All the food was great today. I really appreciate everything you do for our restaurant.

W: Thank you for saying that. The restaurant's opening week was quite successful, wasn't it?

M: Definitely. We exceeded our expected customer numbers, and the restaurant was fully booked last Sunday.

W: How did the customers respond to our dishes?

M: They were satisfied with all the dishes and dessert items on our menu. And some said they were going to post our restaurant on their social media.

W: That's great news! Anything negative?

M: Well, some said we should have more dessert items. How can we improve our menu?

W: I think we can add 2 or 3 cakes or ice cream to our menu.

20.

M: Alice is going to register for the computer science workshop that'll be held at the local youth education center next Saturday. She wants to search for as much information as possible about big data and related jobs. She is excited to participate in the data programming session at the workshop. She finds out that her friend, Patrick is also interested in this field. So, she would like to suggest that Patrick register for the workshop. In this situation, what would Alice most likely say to Patrick?

Alice : Patrick, why don't you sign up for the computer science workshop?
