Rather, we should attempt to become the best we can be within our limitations.

I am sure you have heard something like, "You can do anything you want, if you just persist long and hard enough." Perhaps you have even made a similar assertion to motivate someone to try harder. (A) Of course, words like these sound good, but surely they cannot be true. (B) In fact, few of us can become the professional athlete, entertainer, or movie star we would like to be. (C) Environmental, physical, and psychological factors limit our potential and narrow the range of things we can do with our lives. (D) "Trying harder" cannot substitute for talent, equipment, and method, but this should not lead to despair. (E) We try to find our niche. By the time we reach employment age, there is a finite range of jobs we can perform effectively.

- ① A    ② B    ③ C    ④ D    ⑤ E
