The Ants and the Grasshopper

개미와 베짚이

In the summer, the ants were busy collecting food.

They worked hard all day.

The grasshopper, however, played and sang.

"Why do you work so hard, ants?"

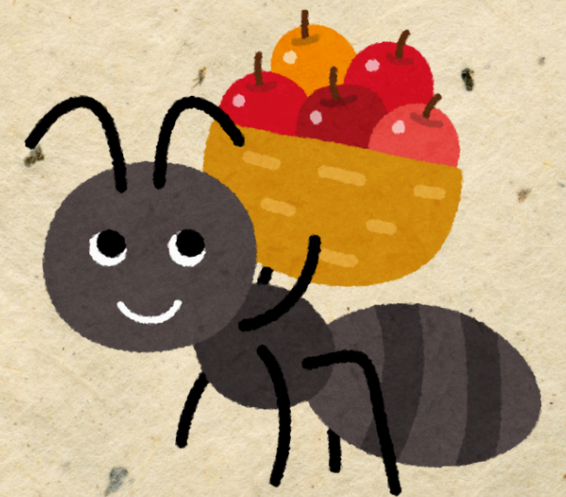

the grasshopper asked.

"Come and have fun!"

"We are saving food for the winter," said the ants.

"You should do the same."

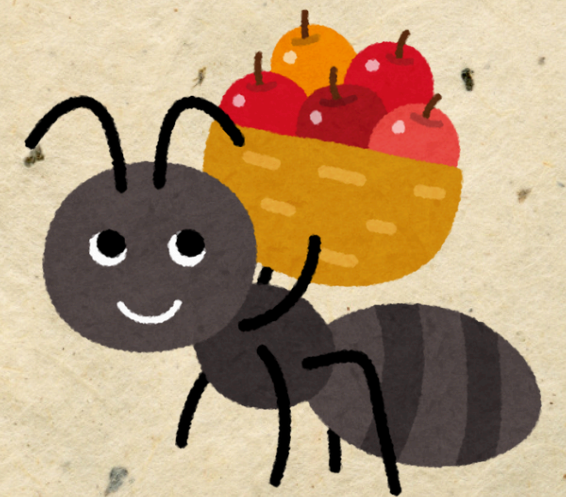

But the grasshopper laughed and kept playing.

When winter came, the grasshopper had no food.

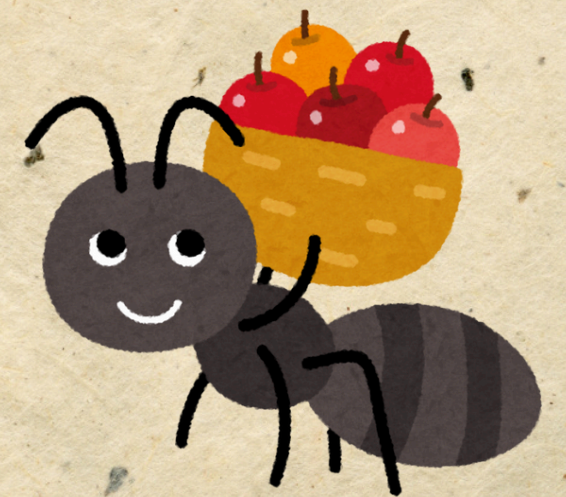

He was cold and hungry.

He went to the ants and asked for help.

"You laughed at us while we worked," the ants said.

"Now, you have no food."

The grasshopper learned a hard lesson:

It's important to prepare for the future.
