W: Hello, Greenville High School students! This is vice principal, Lisa James. Recently, the number of students using the bicycle-sharing system has increased. The shared bicycles are convenient and eco-friendly. However, there's one important thing you should remember. If you don't park them properly after use, they can block pedestrians' way or cause accidents. Because of misplaced shared bicycles in front of the school, students have had trouble commuting. One student even fell over an improperly parked bicycle, and that could have led to a serious accident. So, please be sure to park the shared bicycles in the designated areas for the safety of everyone. Thanks for your cooperation.

M: Anna, what are you working on with your computer?
W: Hi, Daniel. I've been writing a history report. My eyes are so tired.
M: You do look a bit tired. Oh, isn't your computer monitor very bright?
W: Yes, it's on the brightest mode. It's better to see clearer than a dark screen, right?
M: It may be so, but if the computer screen is too bright, it can be harmful to your eyes.
W: Really? How come?
M: Too bright a screen could cause blurry vision. It makes your eyes get tired easily.
W: Hmm, I think I've often experienced similar symptoms.
M: Also bright screens can even make your eyes dry, which has a bad effect on your eyesight.
W: Oh, I see. I should lower the brightness of the screen.
M: Yeah. Don't forget screens that are too bright can damage your eye health.
W: Okay. Thanks for the tip.

W: Hello. How may I help you?

M: Hi, I wonder if you have musical instruments.

W: Of course. What are you looking for?

M: I want a digital piano for my daughter.

W: Oh, you're in luck. We got a nice one yesterday. Follow me.

M: Wow. It doesn't look like it's ever been played.

W: Yeah. The previous owner said her son didn't like playing the piano, so he barely touched it.

M: Really? How much is it?

W: It's $70. That's a pretty good price.

M: Good. I'll take it. By the way, do you buy used books, too? I have many picture books my children don't read any more.

W: We do, but there should be no missing pages or pen marks.

M: Then I'll take a look when I go home.

W: Okay. If you find your books in a good condition, please bring them in.

M: Great. Are the shelves under the clock for the donated items?

W: Right. Do you see the basket on the round table?

M: Yes. What's that for?

W: We put donation badges in it. We gave hand-made badges to donors.

M: How nice! Oh, I can see three boxes next to the chair.

W: Those were ready for donation to the charity center. We organized the donated clothes and put them in the boxes.

M: I see. What's the picture on the wall?

W: That's the picture we took with the people at the charity center last year.

M: It looks nice. It must have been a fun event.

다음을 듣고, 물음에 답하십시오.

M: Hello, students. Last class, we learned about different expressions in various languages related to birds. Today, let's talk about what birds represent in different cultures. First, the eagle was a significant bird in ancient Mexican culture. For ancient Mexicans, the eagle was a symbol of the sun. As a predator, the eagle was also associated with strength and power. Second, in Chinese culture, the crane stands for intelligence and honor. It's admired for its ability to walk, fly, and swim as well as for its graceful appearance. Third, in ancient Greek culture, the owl was a symbol for the Goddess of wisdom, Athena. The owl's abilities to see, fly, and hunt effectively in the dark often implied magical powers and mystery. Lastly, in some Native American cultures, the hummingbird is a healer and deliverer of love. That's because of its ability to move incredibly fast. The hummingbird is also considered a symbol of joy and good luck. Isn't that interesting? Now, let's watch a video to help you understand better.
