23. 다음 글에서 필자가 주장하는 바로 가장 적절한 것은?

We've all met people who limit their lives in the narrowest possible terms. They are determined to stay in a limited comfort zone. Some people avoid the opportunity to make a public presentation because it makes them nervous. Others reject a chance to study abroad because they don't consider themselves adventurous. People become trapped by their own conception of their limits, so they become angry at even being asked to step beyond them. This attitude toward life, however, is a huge mistake. Welcome new challenges at every turn, saying yes as often as possible.

- ① 새로운 기회를 받아들여라.
- ② 편안한 학습 환경을 만들어라.
- ③ 발표를 위한 준비를 철저히 해라.
- ④ 자신의 적성에 맞는 일을 찾아라.
- ⑤ 다른 사람의 평가를 겸허히 수용해라.

24. 다음 글의 요지로 가장 적절한 것은? [3점]

Think about times in your life when you have been singled out by somebody who made you feel special. Maybe this person praised you, gave you an unexpected gift, or took the time to write you a letter. How did you feel toward this person? You may use any of a whole range of positive adjectives to thank him or her. Probably others want to feel the same way you feel. People want to feel special; it's a normal human desire, and I have never met a person who doesn't appreciate this kind of attention.

- ① 긍정적인 말은 성공을 위한 기본 요소이다.
- ② 행동에 대해 구체적으로 칭찬하는 것이 중요하다.
- ③ 특별한 대우를 받고자 하는 것은 인간의 욕구이다.
- ④ 남에 대한 지나친 관심은 인간관계를 해칠 수 있다.
- ⑤ 상대방의 입장에서 보면 객관적으로 상황을 이해할 수 있다.

25. 다음 글의 제목으로 가장 적절한 것은?

While you are at work, you may dream about a month of Sundays, but your boss wishes for a week of Tuesdays. What makes Tuesday special? Monday is overloaded with meetings to "get things moving," which aren't very productive. Wednesday is "hump day"—just get over it, a worker thinks. On Thursday, people become exhausted; and on Friday, everybody is thinking about the weekend. On Tuesdays, employees hit peak performance because they are very focused on day-to-day activities. Also, Tuesday is usually the first day of the week that they're focused on their own task. In 10 hours, they're doing 20 hours worth of work.

* hump: 고비, 난관

- ① Do You Want to Be More Creative?
- ② What Your Workers Are Waiting for
- ③ Weekends Make You More Productive
- ④ How to Make Your Own Weekly Schedule
- ⑤ Why Is Tuesday the Most Productive Day?

26. 밑줄 친 He[he]가 가리키는 대상이 나머지 넷과 다른 것은?

An Indian man goes into a curry house in Singapore and orders three dinners. ① He eats all three meals by himself. "Are you hungry?" asks the owner. "I am one of three brothers," ② he replies. "One brother lives in Delhi and the other in Beijing. So we always eat like this to remember each other." Every time the Indian comes to the restaurant, ③ he eats three dinners. After a year of this, he comes into the restaurant looking sad. Weeping, ④ he orders only two dinners. The owner approaches with his head bowed. ⑤ He expresses his sorrow for the death of the Indian's brother. The Indian says: "Oh, neither of my brothers is dead. My doctor advised me to go on a diet."

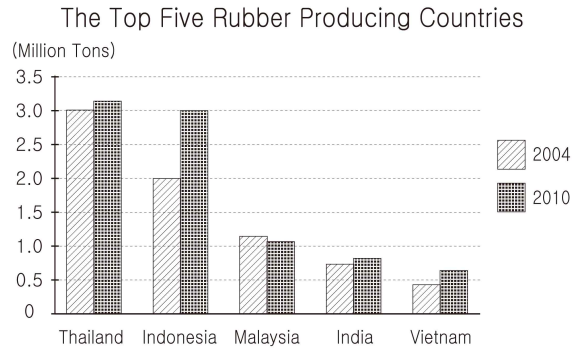

27. 다음 글의 밑줄 친 부분 중, 어법상 틀린 것은? [3점]

There is no one right way to draw. Don't you believe me? Collect 100 amazing artists in a room and have them ① draw the same chair. What do you get? One hundred very different chair drawings. ② Keeping this in mind, you'll have a lot more fun drawing the unique art that comes from you. You're the only artist in the world ③ which can draw the way you do. Exploring your personal drawing styles ④ is important. Notice how you have grown or improved as you practice. Pay attention to ⑤ what you like most about your drawings.

28. 다음 글의 밑줄 친 부분 중, 문맥상 낱말의 쓰임이 적절하지 않은 것은?

Unfortunately, many insects don't live through the cold winter. Others, however, have come up with clever plans to ① survive until spring. For example, some flies stay in corners of a warm house over the winter, so it's ② unlikely to see them flying outside. Certain honeybees pack together in a small space and move their wings quickly to produce heat, so that they can keep ③ warm. Some mosquitoes, like frogs, sleep through the winter cold. This is because they cannot move around when the temperature goes ④ up. In spring, the females slowly become ⑤ active, flying around looking for food—fresh blood.

29. 다음 도표의 내용과 일치하지 않는 문장은?

The above chart shows the total amounts of rubber produced by the top five countries in 2004 and 2010. ① Of the five countries above, Thailand was the largest producer of rubber in both years. ② Indonesia achieved the most remarkable increase during this period, which is about one million tons. ③ Malaysia showed a small decrease in 2010 from 2004. ④ As Malaysia did in 2010, India's production also declined. ⑤ Vietnam produced the least amount of rubber among the five countries both in 2004 and 2010.

30. *H. Mephisto*에 관한 다음 글의 내용과 일치하지 않는 것은?

H. Mephisto is a kind of roundworms living deep underground on Earth. Its name comes from Mephistopheles, which means "one who dislikes the light." It was recently discovered even 1.3 kilometers below the ground in a South African gold mine. It only measures from 0.52 to 0.56 millimeters in length, which may sound so small, but it is millions of times bigger than the bacteria it feeds on. It survives huge pressure from the ground above. In addition, it lives in groundwater with extremely low levels of oxygen. No wonder it is also called a devil's worm.

* roundworm: 선형동물

- ① 빛을 싫어한다는 뜻이 이름에 담겨있다.
- ② 최근에 지하 1.3km 지점에서 발견되었다.
- ③ 자신보다 몸집이 큰 박테리아를 먹는다.
- ④ 고압의 환경에서도 살아남는다.
- ⑤ 산소가 희박한 지하수에 산다.

[31~36] 다음 빈칸에 들어갈 말로 가장 적절한 것을 고르시오.

31. People think identical twins are exactly alike in every way: they look alike, they dress in matching clothes, and they share the same likes and dislikes. Parents of identical twins, however, know differently. In fact, identical twins are _____ individuals. For example, my own children have always shown about a twenty-five percent difference in their weight. Also, they don't act alike either. One likes to dance; the other likes to play basketball. Certainly, we encourage them to pursue their individual interests, but they decide to do these activities all on their own.

- ① active
- ② paired
- ③ unique
- ④ talented
- ⑤ thoughtful

32. One late evening in August of 1952, in a theater in New York, a man just opened and closed a piano cover three times before an audience, not hitting any keys for four minutes and thirty-three seconds. It was John Cage's 4'33", the famous musical composition that consists of _____. Cage believed the audience could feel music fully without the artist. Therefore, the only way to prove his belief was to remove the artist from the process of creation. In 4'33", neither artist nor composer had any impact on the piece, so that Cage had no way of controlling what sounds would be heard by the audience.

* piece: 곡, 작품

- ① lyrics
- ② chorus
- ③ silence
- ④ laughing
- ⑤ humming

33. A tornado touched down in Hammond on June 20, 2002, with tragic results. Towering Pines, the wilderness preserve owned and maintained by the town, was largely destroyed. The tornado was, according to all weather experts in the area, a very rare case in New England. Captain Maria Hinojosa of the New England Weather Bureau says, "The Hammond tornado was like a snowstorm in South Africa, or a drought in the rain forest. It wasn't impossible. But it is one of those things that reminds you that weather is _____." [3점]

* wilderness preserve: 야생 보호 구역

- ① rarely variable
- ② regionally forecast
- ③ gradually improving
- ④ highly unpredictable
- ⑤ constantly controlled

34. The desire to have a fulfilling job—a career that provides a deep sense of purpose, and reflects our values, passions and personality—is a(n) _____. The word 'fulfillment' does not even appear in the famous dictionary, A Dictionary of the English Language, published in 1755. For centuries, most people of the Western world were busy struggling to meet their basic needs. They could not care about whether they had an exciting career that used their talents and improved their well-being. Any idea of fulfillment didn't exist in their minds. But today, the spread of material richness has freed our minds to pursue fulfillment from our work. [3점]

- ① unclear idea
- ② natural feeling
- ③ moral principle
- ④ modern concept
- ⑤ unexpected result

35. The Olympics gives a good chance of _____.

It can be found on the streets of many cities in the host countries. Many people, speaking many different languages, are visiting these cities. Each brings their own culture with them and changes the entire area into one big melting pot. A little part of everyone will be changed through their experiences in the world sporting event. This great cultural exchange will very likely help improve our understanding of the world around us, all through sports games.

- ① creating jobs
- ② sharing cultures
- ③ promoting tourism
- ④ encouraging sports
- ⑤ inviting investment

36. When you write e-mail messages to people you don't know well or to people of higher position, there are a few things that you need to remember. One of them is _____.

We would suggest that you don't burden your readers with messages that are too long or include unnecessary information. If, for example, you need to cancel an appointment or miss class because you are ill, there is no need to describe the illness. A simple statement that you are ill and unable to get to class or to an appointment is fine.

- ① to use common expressions
- ② to express requests politely
- ③ to keep your messages brief
- ④ to start with casual greetings
- ⑤ to respond to messages quickly

But, as the earth's surface is curved, there is a path that looks curved and hence longer on a flat map, but which is actually shorter.

Imagine that you wanted to travel from New York to Madrid, two cities that are at almost the same latitude. (①) If the earth were flat, the shortest route would be to head straight east. (②) If you did that, you would arrive in Madrid after travelling 3,707 miles. (③) You can get there in 3,605 miles if you follow the great-circle route, which is to first head northeast, then gradually turn east, and then southeast. (④) The difference in distance between the two routes is due to the earth's curved surface. (⑤) Airlines know this, and arrange for their pilots to follow great-circle routes.

* latitude: 위도

40. 다음 글의 내용을 한 문장으로 요약하고자 한다. 빈칸 (A)와 (B)에 들어갈 말로 가장 적절한 것은?

In one study, Sarah Pressman and Sheldon Cohen studied autobiographies written by study participants including psychologists, poets, and novelists. They counted the number of relational words that people used in their autobiographies, words like father, brother, or sister, as well as pronouns like we. Pressman and Cohen then proved the connection between how often people used relational words and how long they lived. They found that the authors who heavily mentioned social roles in their life stories lived, on average, five years longer than those who did not.

What do you get from the air around you? You can't see it, but you take it in every breath. It's a gas called oxygen. All animals need oxygen. Animals that live in water get their oxygen from the water. Plants also need gases from the air. They need carbon dioxide to make food during the day and oxygen to use food at night.

Where do these gases come from? They come from plants and animals! Plants make oxygen, a gas that animals need. Animals give off carbon dioxide, a gas that plants need. Animals and plants take part in the carbon dioxide and oxygen cycles. The carbon dioxide and oxygen cycles are the _____ of these two gases. The gases move from one population to another in both water and land ecosystems. If gases were used up instead of being exchanged, living things would die.
