I felt nervous and worried because I was about ㉠to jump into a completely new world. All my best friends and I had hoped to go to the same high school, but I was the only one who would ㉡attend a different one. I was not sure ㉢if I could adapt to the new environment. I was on the phone with my friends till late. We talked about ㉣that life in high school would be like, and I hardly slept at all.

The next morning I got up late and was late for school. The homeroom teacher looked ㉤very strict, and all my new classmates looked unfriendly. Even worse, I brought the wrong textbooks and I could not concentrate in class because I had not slept enough.

When I started high school, I was caught up in popularity contests. I often spent all my pocket money buying snacks for my classmates.

(A) However, it did not take long to learn that all the effort was useless. When I was in the hospital for two weeks, not one of the kids I had tried to impress visited me.

(B) To make friends with the "cool kids," I often acted as if I were the kind of person they wanted me to be. I was afraid to show my true self.

(C) To my surprise, the two quiet boys I had barely talked to came and cheered me up. I learned an important lesson: pretending to be someone else does you no good. It is better to be yourself and show your true colors.

At the end of the day, the homeroom teacher assigned each of us a locker. I got locker number thirteen! ㉠ I have always hated this number. I thought my high school life would not be easy. When I opened the locker, I found a small notebook with some words written on the cover: "To ㉡ an Unknown Freshman." I felt curious and opened the notebook. Hello. ㉢ You must be nervous and worried about how to survive your first year of high school, right? That is exactly how I felt on my first day, so I made this as my final term project in English class. ㉣ I hope it will help ㉤ you make the most of your high school years.

It is widely cited that the concept of mentoring originated with the character of Mentor in Homer's Odyssey. In Greek mythology, Odysseus was the king of Ithaca, a small city-state in Ancient Greece. Mentor was a loyal friend and adviser to Odysseus. When Odysseus left for the Trojan War, he had to leave his wife Penelope and infant son Telemachus. He placed Mentor in charge of Telemachus and his palace no doubt anticipating a swift return. Unexpectedly, Odysseus faced a series of obstacles and challenges that stopped him from returning home for decades and during that time Mentor nurtured and supposed the boy. Mentor became a relationship based on affection and trust. Mentor was almost like a second dad to Telemachus.

Meanwhile, Several young noblemen started lusting over Penelope and urged her to marry one of them during Odysseus's absence, which meant that they would be the king and Telemachus would have been stripped of his bright right to rule. Eventually the goddess of wisdom Athena interceded to help Odysseus' safe return. When Athena visited Telemachus, she took the disguise of Mentor to hide herself from the numerous suitors of Penelope. As Mentor, she then told the young man to stand up against the suitors, leave Ithaca and search for his lost father. After their reunion, father and son repelled the usurpers and order was restored.

Because of Mentor's relationship with Telemachus, and the disguised Athena's encouragement and practical plans for dealing with personal dilemmas, the personal name Mentor has been adopted in English as term meaning someone who imparts wisdom to and shares knowledge with a less experienced colleague.

- ① Odysseus entrusted his young son, Telemachus to the care of Mentor, his trusted companion, when he went to fight in the Trojan War.
- ② Young nobles demanded that Penelope choose one of them in re-marriage in the hope of usurping control of Ithaca and ensuring Telemachus his birthright.
- ③ Athena took the form of Mentor when she appeared in front of Telemachus in order to be unnoticeable from the suitors of Penelope.
- ④ The goddess encouraged Telemachus to defy and challenge the suitors and go abroad to find out what happened to his father.
- ⑤ Odysseus and Telemachus reunited and cast down would-be usurpers of Odysseus throne and Telemachus's birthright.

Joining clubs presents many opportunities to learn more about yourself, your goals, and your strengths.

You can learn from how other students handle certain situations and test your current knowledge.

You can also find out what you're good at.

• (C) _____

Knowing how to work well with a team is an essential skill for any career. Joining clubs teaches you how to do this by putting you in situations where you are required to take advice from others, as well as give your own.

• (D) _____

Concentrating on schoolwork is obviously important, but giving your mind a break is necessary and beneficial. While taking part in club activities, you'll be able to socialize with like-minded individuals and actually learn as much from them as you would your schoolwork.

• (E) _____

Another simple reason to join clubs is to have fun. Meeting new people, making new friends, and participating in activities will help you make the most of your school experience.

① (A): Advantages of Joining Clubs

② (B): You'll learn more about yourself.

③ (C): You'll learn how to work with a team.

④ (D): You'll get a break from your studies.
