(가) Most of the time, we conform unconsciously. We don't even have to think about the fact that we are monitoring others and adapting to them. For example, many people start to dress like their boss, although they don't realize it. Even more often, people unconsciously mirror their boss's nonverbal behaviors during a meeting — using similar hand gestures or crossing the same leg, and so on. This is not crazy behavior. Indeed, there does appear to be an evolutionary ⓐadvantage for those who mirror others. People who dress like their boss actually get paid more and promoted more quickly. When we mirror others, they like us more. Unfortunately, the downside is that we behave in a more conformist fashion.

(나) Mirroring is the behavior in which ⓑone person unconsciously imitates the gesture, speech pattern, or attitude of another. Mirroring often occurs in social situations, particularly in the company of close friends or family. The concept often affects other individuals' notions about the individual that is exhibiting mirroring behaviors, which can lead to the individual building rapport with others. The activation of mirror neurons takes place within the individual who begins to mirror another's movements and allows them a greater connection and understanding with the individual who they are mirroring, as well as allowing the individual who is being mirrored to feel a stronger connection with the other individual.

Perhaps the strongest and most dangerous political force in the world today is nationalism. Nationalism is the belief of a people that they have the right and the duty to constitute themselves as a nation-state. ①It further aims to build and maintain a single national identity, based on shared social characteristics of culture, ethnicity, geographic location, language, politics, religion, traditions and belief in a shared singular history, and to promote national unity. ②The situation of the French speaking population of Quebec is a good example. ③For historical and linguistic reasons, Quebec has cultural links with other North American French-speaking communities, particularly with the Acadians and Franco-Ontarian communities in Eastern Ontario and Northern Ontario. ④Their language and their history of discrimination in English-dominated workplaces set the Quebecois apart from English-speaking Canadians. ⑤In 1995, the people of Quebec narrowly defeated a separatist referendum, but it is still possible that nationalist sentiments in Quebec may result in the formation of a new nation on the North American continent.

3 밑줄 친 jump off the dead horse가 의미하는 바로 가장 적절한 것은? [수능특강 LIGHT 21강 3번]

I've always told my daughter she should pursue things until they don't make sense. It was a concept I used professionally which resulted in me being very innovative and forward thinking in my business. It's also a concept that encourages me to be more open-minded and open-hearted to new situations and experiences. However, at some point, the thing you're pursuing may no longer make sense, and you need to learn to jump off the dead horse. Stop banging your head against the wall, and let it go. Sometimes it's very difficult to do, especially when you are emotionally invested, but in the long run, you do realize the dead horse will never take you to your destination.

- ① Push through hard times.
- ② Fake it until you make it.
- ③ See it big and keep it simple.
- ④ Stop whining and start winning.
- ⑤ Let go of what seems unpromising.

4 다음 글의 내용을 한 문장으로 요약하고자 한다. 빈칸 (A), (B)에 들어갈 말로 가장 적절한 것은? [수능특강 LIGHT 21강 4번]

A localization economy can be traced to the desire of individuals to compare products. Individuals may prefer to shop for shoes in a regional shopping mall because they can compare the merchandise in four or five different stores in fewer trips. Firms selling similar products may repel one another under some circumstances, but when consumers have a demand for display variety, similar competing establishments may locate together. An additional shoe store in a regional shopping mall may actually benefit all the shoe stores by making the mall a more desirable place to shop for shoes. The additional store may lower the percentage of mall shoe shoppers who make purchases at each existing store, but total sales may increase due to the greater number of shoppers.

The reason why localization economy developed is consumers' ____ (A) ____, which brings similar shops together and makes the location ____ (B) ____ place to shop.
